

Cows And Cowards

Mary Wilkinson's blog yesterday (thanks, Mary!) brought to mind a throng of reflections about errant cows! In the past, I've had them trespass right up to a picture window and do no more damage than churn up the lawn, but it seems they're no longer as docile as they once were. You used to be able to feed them hand-plucked grass, but it's ...

read more